European State Studs - - A Living Heritage

on Wednesday 21st September 2016 at 6 PM in the main hall of the Imperial Inn in Kladruby nad Labem

Alexandra Lotz studied Interior Design, Architectural Conservation and World Heritage Management in Germany, Australia and the United States. She worked for the German State Studs of Neustadt (Dosse) and Marbach, and from 2009 to 2015 managed the European State Studs Association (ESSA). In 2016 she founded Horses & Heritage, an agency for equestrian culture.

As a passionate rider Alexandra Lotz focuses on European stud culture in her work and research. In her presentation the cultural scientist gives insight into the world of great European horse breeding institutions. She speaks about cultural landscapes and architecture designed for horses, about special horse breeds and about life in the studs in the past and today.

The presentation will be given in English and interpreted into Czech, and is suitable for the general public and professionals alike.

Entrance is free, no reservation required.
